Eric Wright is an associate at Davis Graham & Stubbs LLP, where his practice focuses on corporate transactional law, including mergers and acquisitions, debt finance transactions, and general corporate matters.

Eric received his J.D. from the University of Colorado Law School, where he graduated as a member of the Order of the Coif, and his B.A. from Stanford University. During law school, he served as class vice president and as an articles editor for the Colorado Technology Law Journal. He also completed an internship with the Business & Licensing Section of the Colorado Department of Law, an opportunity that enabled him to hone his legal drafting abilities. Prior to graduation, Eric was a summer associate at Davis Graham and carried out various drafting and legal research responsibilities. After completing his undergraduate program in economics, he worked as a financial analyst for Maxim Integrated in San Jose, California, and then as an account manager at Funding Circle in San Francisco.

Outside of his legal practice, Eric is actively engaged in philanthropic initiatives. Eric is a member of the Mile High United Way Catalyst Society, a group of business leaders in the Denver Metro area focused on philanthropic and leadership development.
