Sheila is a senior associate at Davis Graham & Stubbs LLP, specializing in corporate transactional matters. She provides sound counsel and valuable insights to clients involved in capital markets and securities transactions, including public and private equity offerings, as well as general corporate governance matters.

Prior to joining Davis Graham, she was an associate at an international law firm, where she provided guidance to domestic and international clients operating in a wide range of industries, including cryptocurrency, energy, technology, banking, transportation, and gaming. Her practice encompassed various corporate transactions, such as public mergers and acquisitions, SPAC IPOs and de-SPACs, bankruptcy restructuring, and traditional and alternative equity offerings. She began her legal career as an associate at prominent global law firms based in Houston, representing investment banks and issuers in primary and secondary debt and equity securities transactions. Sheila also has extensive experience in wealth management, having served as a Vice President in the private bank division of a large financial institution.

Sheila earned her JD/MBA from The University of Texas School of Law and the McCombs School of Business on an accelerated schedule, graduating early in December 2012. During her graduate studies, she served as a staff editor for the Texas Law Review, managing editor for the Texas Review of Entertainment & Sports Law, a student advisor for Texas Venture Labs, and was a Net Impact Board Fellow with the United Way for Greater Austin. She also holds a BSBA with double majors in Entrepreneurship and Marketing from Washington University in St. Louis, obtained in 2009.

Sheila is a 2023 graduate of the Colorado Women's Chamber of Commerce Leadership Program and an active member of the Society of Corporate Governance Rocky Mountain Chapter.

She has authored numerous articles on securities, corporate governance and Corporate Transparency Act matters, providing valuable insights into complex areas of corporate and regulatory law.

Outside of her legal practice, Sheila is passionate about fitness and her rescue dogs.
