Amanda Haugland is an associate at Davis Graham & Stubbs LLP. Amanda focuses her practice on representing clients across the U.S. in all aspects of bankruptcy, business restructuring, and related transactions. She received her J.D. from the University of Denver Sturm College of Law, also earning a Corporate and Commercial Law certificate, and her B.S. in Business Administration from the University of Florida.

During law school, Amanda earned several merit-based academic awards and served as an Academic Achievement Leader for a second-year torts course and an Orientation Leader for new students. She was the vice president and Director of Community Outreach of the Student Trial Lawyers Association, where she coached first-year students on developing trial skills.

Amanda currently serves as the newsletter editor for the American Bankruptcy Institute's Young / New Member Committee. Amanda was the 2026 recipient of the Sheila Smith Scholarship from the American Bankruptcy Institute. Honoring Sheila Smith's legacy of generosity, mentorship, and professional excellence, the scholarship offers recipients opportunities to deepen their knowledge, expand their networks, and connect with leaders in restructuring.

Prior to joining Davis Graham, Amanda was a law clerk in the Denver office of a boutique business law firm. While there, she worked on various complex commercial litigation matters and corporate transactions. Earlier, Amanda was a law clerk in the legal department of a Denver- based luxury travel company, where she gained experience in general business and real estate law and completed a judicial internship for the Honorable Kristen L. Mix of the U.S. District Court for the District of Colorado.
