

Sarah Rockwell

Sarah Rockwell currently serves as senior vice president, general counsel of Ulysses Development Group, a developer and owner of affordable and workforce housing. Previously, she was a founder and partner of the law firm of Kaplan Kirsch LLP (formerly, Kaplan Kirsch & Rockwell) where her practice emphasized land use, real estate and public sector negotiations. Sarah has represented both public and private sector clients in land use, real estate and municipal law issues associated with complex, small and large-scale development projects, including transit-oriented development projects, airports and residential, industrial and commercial development projects.

She has prepared, negotiated and implemented agreements related to a variety of public/private sector development projects.

Ms. Rockwell served as chair of the Downtown Denver Partnership Management Committee from 2021 to 2022 and also chaired the board of Denver Civic Ventures. Previously, she served on the board of the Winter Park Recreational Association and served on the Board of the Lowry Redevelopment Authority from 1997 to 2013.
