Katie Schroder leads the clean energy group and is a partner in the environmental and public lands group at Davis Graham. Her practice centers on energy development on federal lands, guiding developers through the full project lifecycle—from permitting to administrative and judicial litigation.

Prior to joining Davis Graham in 2015, Katie was a partner at a boutique oil and gas firm. She began her career as an attorney-advisor in the U.S. Department of the Interior's Office of the Solicitor as part of the Solicitor's Honors Program. After law school, she clerked for Justice Alex J. Martinez of the Colorado Supreme Court.

Project Counseling

Katie counsels developers of conventional, linear, and renewable energy projects on federal lands, advising on compliance with the Natural Environmental Policy Act (NEPA), National Historic Preservation Act (NHPA), Endangered Species Act (ESA), Federal Land Management and Policy Act, and Bureau of Land Management and Forest Service land use plans. She negotiates directly with federal agencies and has advised project proponents on agency authorizations of oil and natural gas, wind, and transmission projects, as well as advised on carbon capture, utilization, and sequestration projects. Her work spans projects qualifying for Determinations of NEPA Adequacy or categorical exclusions to environmental impact statements.

Administrative Appeals

Katie represents clients in administrative appeals before federal agencies, including dozens of matters before the Interior Board of Land Appeals and appearances before the Interior Board of Indian Appeals. She routinely handles appeals before BLM State Directors, the Office of Natural Resources Revenue Director, and offices of the Bureau of Indian Affairs and Forest Service.

Litigation

Katie has appeared in administrative litigation in federal courts across Colorado, Wyoming, Utah, North Dakota, California, Alaska, and the District of Columbia. She defends agency approvals, challenges adverse decisions, and has successfully litigated nationwide agency rules.

Federal Wildlife Laws

Katie advises on compliance with the ESA, Migratory Bird Treaty Act, and Bald and Golden
